President's Message

Welcome to another season of Eastern intercollegiate athletics. Our sports programs have over the years provided a common focus of interest for campus and community, and we hope that they will continue to give such spectator enjoyment. At the same time, we believe that our sports programs should be positive personal experiences for the participants rather than a commercial exploitation of their skills and efforts. We encourage your support of this kind of collegiate athletics, and of our Eagle teams.

We are responding to the growing interest in women's intercollegiate competition, but must not do so at the expense of reducing the established program for men. Financial support for all athletics comes essentially from budgeted College funds, and the budgets these days are lean and stringent as never before. Our coaches, the Athletic Director, and the athletes themselves are meeting the challenge with imagination and sacrifices. Let's give them our backing in their endeavors!

This is EWSC

The oldest of the state's four-year colleges, Eastern Washington State College is 85 years old during this 1975-76 academic year.

EWSC is one of four state colleges, which, with two universities, comprise the four-year public institutions of higher education in the state. Eastern is located in Cheney, 16 miles southwest of Spokane.

Spokane metropolitan bus service, direct no-toll phone lines between Spokane and the Cheney campus and a growing number of resident courses in several disciplines offered in Spokane emphasize the close relationship of Eastern to the city. Many more college-age students from Spokane and Spokane County attend Eastern than any other senior institution.

The objective of the College is to "aid students in becoming informed, responsible, and appreciative members of a democratic society who will, through aroused and disciplined curiosity, continue their education throughout their lives."

In furtherance of this objective, the College is taking deliberate steps to expand its service to minority groups and involve all students in a multiracial cultural community of learning. To this end, the college encourages full participation by all students in the many areas of college life.

EWSC offers studies in 51 undergraduate and 16 graduate fields. Average class size is 22, and student-faculty ratio is one to 19.

Almost half, 47 percent, of EWSC students commute from Spokane, many by Spokane Transit Line buses. One-quarter of EWSC students live on campus. Sixty-two percent are 21 years of age or older, and 37 percent are married.

Spring quarter enrollment at EWSC was 6,850, the largest in the history of the college, making it about the same size as the University of Idaho or University of Montana. Graduate students accounted for 1,617 of that enrollment.

Average grade point of EWSC freshmen during 1974-75 was 3.1, and is expected to be 3.2 during 1975-76. More than 50 percent of last year's freshmen had a GPA of 3.0; 26 percent had a GPA of 3.5 or higher.

There were 1,180 veterans enrolled last year.

More students attending four-year colleges from Spokane County attend EWSC than any other college or university.

Almost two-thirds of Eastern's faculty members have doctoral degrees.

Eastern's Coaching Staff

John Massengale Head Coach

This is Massengale's fourth year as head coach of the Eagles and his sixth year at Eastern. He was an assistant under head coach Brent Wooten in 1969 and 1970 and stepped into the head coaching job when Wooten went on leave to work toward a higher degree.

Wooten didn't go back to coaching when he returned, but this year has joined the Eagle staff as an assistant under Massengale.

Massengale has degrees from Northwest Missouri State University, Illinois State University and a doctorate from the University of New Mexico. He was an offensive end and defensive tackle for Northwest Missouri and an assistant coach at New Mexico, working with wide receivers and linebackers.

He has a four-year 17-21 record at Eastern, and although the Eagles were 4-5 last season and had the best record in the Evergreen Conference, 4-2, the championship was awarded to Oregon Tech, which had a 3-1-2 record.

Assistants

Brent Wooten

Wooten has been at Eastern since 1963 and was an assistant under Dave Holmes. When Holmes left for Hawaii, Wooten moved into the head coaching spot but left it to go on leave to work on a higher degree.

A member of the famed University of Washington Rose Bowl teams, Wooten has now returned to coaching as an assistant and will work with the offensive backs.

Curt Byrnes

Byrnes also coaches the Eagle wrestling team at which he has had outstanding success in both the Pacific Northwest and nationally. He has been at Eastern since 1970 and coaches the offensive line.

Don Kallem

Another very successful coach in another field, golf, Kallem has been at Eastern since 1964, and has produced area championship teams and Eastern teams that scored high nationally. He coaches the defensive line.

Steve Farrington

A graduate assistant for the second season, Farrington was an outstanding pass catcher for the Eagles. He will coach the receivers.

Chet Cockrill

Another outstanding player for the Eagles, Cockrill was a top defensive back and safety and will work with the defensive backs.

Eastern Athletic Director

Jerry Martin became athletic director this fall, succeeding Bob Anderson, who held the post for five years.

Martin came to Eastern in 1970 as assistant football and assistant track coach. He became head track coach in 1971 succeeding the late Arnie Pelluer who died a sudden and tragic death.

Two memorial events are hosted each year by EWSC, the Arnie Pelluer Invitational cross country meet in the fall and the Arnie Pelluer track and field meet in the spring.

In his five years as head track coach, Martin has, for the past three years, been named NAIA district 1 Track Coach-of-the-Year and last year was also NAIA Pacific Coast Track Coach-of-the-Year. He continues as head track coach but has dropped football coaching.

Eastern track teams won the Evergreen Conference championship in 1974 and 1975, and were runners-up in 1973.

The Eagles ranked nationally in the NAIA top 10 track teams for three years, 1972, 1973 and 1974, and last year were 15th.

Martin has had wide experience as a coach both in high school, community colleges and universities and is an excellent administrator.

They Did It the Hard Way

You can't hear the stories of the early settler and not have an abiding admiration for their steadfastness and endurance.

They were all too familiar with hard times and toil. Some barely spoke the language but they struggled and withstood hardship, strengthened by their hope in this new land.

It was better times for their kids and grandkids that lured them, and the dream came true. Half the people you meet out here have roots that go back to those days. The man-killing work of the frontier has been replaced by rewarding careers and fulfilling livelihoods.

Energy that magnifies man's muscle power made it possible, and more energy will have to be found to provide for the needs of the upcoming generations.

At The Washington Water Power Company supplying this energy is about our most serious concern. We think, that with everyone's understanding and cooperation the job can be done.

Evergreen Conference

The Evergreen Conference is made up of seven teams, three Washington State public colleges and four Oregon State public colleges. All schools are members of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics and play under the NAIA rules.

Last year's football championship was awarded to Oregon Institute of Technology, which had a 3-1-2 conference record while the Eagles were 4-2. But the conference has no rules for ties.

Athletics directors met at the end of the season, and discounting the ties, gave Oregon Tech a .750 percentage to .667 for Eastern.

An innovation in the conference has been adopted for this year—"The Kansas Tie-Breaker." If a game ends in a tie, each team will have an opportunity to attempt to score from the other team's 10-yard line. This will be repeated until a winner is determined.

Often overlooked are a team's leading tacklers. These five Eagles, Gordon Hale, Bob Altshuler, Chris Knight, Steve DeLong and Steve Curtis, with Mike Richter, are tops for the Eagles.

Richter, who was pictured in an earlier program, is a free safety, an Associated Press Little All-America honorable mention, is a senior who has already lettered three times. He is from Newport, Wash.

Hale is a 6-0, 185-pound junior safety from Mariner High School in Everett and is a transfer from Yakima Valley College. Altshuler, a linebacker, is a junior, 5-11, 205, from Seattle's Ballard High and was a transfer from Columbia Basin College. He earned an Eagle letter last year.

Middlelinebacker Chris Knight, who sat out last year with an injury, is a junior, 6-0, 210, from Everett and has already won two Eagle letters. Steve DeLong, a senior 6-1, 190-pound linebacker from Spokane's North Central, is a two-letter winner.

Curtis, playing left safety, is 6-1, 190-pounds, a junior who lettered as a freshman and a sophomore. He is from Glacier High in Seattle.

Oregon Institute of Technology, last year a big, bruising team that won by wearing down its opponents, is not as big this year but has more speed, a multiple offense and plays a wide open game, Eastern Head Coach John Massengale, said.

Which should make for an interesting afternoon for Eagle students, alumni returning for today's Homecoming and Eastern's other fans.

Despite Eastern's 24-6 loss last Saturday to Oregon College of Education, Massengale said the Eagle defense looked good. In the first part of the game, execution was not consistent, he said. In the second half, when Eastern out-performed the Wolves, both offense and defense looked good, but mistakes late in the game took its toll and victory with it.

Biggest surprise in the offense was Charlie Crawford, a 5-10, 175-pound freshman fullback from Prosser. On nine carries, he gained 90 yards, a 10-yard average per rush, and was never thrown for a loss.

Crawford's performance has earned him a starting spot in today's game. In addition to carrying the ball, Crawford was cited for his outstanding blocking.

Another non-starter who earned a starting berth by last Saturday's performance was Scott Lazor. Lazor filled in for an injured Al Stallworth and did so well he will be moved to left tackle with Stallworth back in the lineup. Lazor, 6-5, 265, is a junior transfer from Wenatchee Valley College where he played offensive tackle.

The biggest man on the Eastern squad, he was slow to make the change from offense to defense, Massengale said, but has improved so much he has earned a start.

Gordon Hale, a 6-0, 185 junior safety from Everett and Yakima Valley, was one of the top tacklers in last week's game, and his performance couldn't be overlooked, so he will start opposite Mike Richter, the Eagle's free safety.

Richter, who was injured and didn't practice all last week, was held out of all special teams but played his regular defensive spot. He was the Eagles' top tackler last week and is leading for the season.

Oregon colleges are leading the Evergreen Conference, with two teams undefeated, Eastern Oregon, 2-0 in EvCo and 4-0 overall at the top, followed by Oregon College of Education, 2-0 and 3-0.

Oregon Tech is 1-1 and 2-1, and Southern Oregon, which has yet to play a conference game, 2-1.

None of the Washington colleges have yet won a game. All are 0-3 overall, with Eastern and Western 0-1 in the conference and Central 0-2.

Today's Half Time

The class of 1950 will be paid special tribute at today's Homecoming halftime, with representatives of the class scheduled to be on hand.

"Heritage and Horizons" is the theme of this year's Homecoming, and the special feature of halftime today is certainly appropriate—a salute to the 200th anniversary of the United States Navy.

Capt. George W. Lotzenhiser, USNR-R, who also happens to be dean of the EWSC School of Fine Arts, made arrangements for today's activities.

Planned is a fly-over by the Washington Air National Guard, an example of another branch of the military service saluting the Navy. The pre-game color guard, from the Inland Empire chapter of the Naval Reserve Association, will be attired in historical naval uniforms.

Rear Adm. Lando Zech Jr., USN, commandant of the 13th Naval District, will be a featured guest and the EWSC marching band will present the western premier of a new march, "Stand Up For America," written by Secretary of the Navy J. William Moddendorf II.

Members of the Spokane Council of the Navy League, the Inland Empire chapter of the Naval Reserve Association and members of the Fleet Reserve Association will be guests at the game, Capt. Lotzenhiser said.

Navy reservists or those on active duty in uniform were admitted free to today's game.

Following today's game, there will be a victory celebration at Bill's in downtown Cheney.

Annual Homecoming dance is scheduled at the new Sheraton-Spokane Hotel from 9 p.m. to midnight. Cost is only $1 at the door. Alumni are invited to the Alumni Suite 1103 in the Sheraton.

Women's Sports Important at Eastern

With a little help from federal legislation aimed at eliminating inequalities between men's and women's collegiate athletic programs, Eastern's Women's Sports program has experienced a surge of growth during the past three years.

Dr. Peggy Gazette, chairman of women's physical education at EWSC, said the growth in the college's women's sports program can be seen in the increased budget, women's membership on the Athletic Council, greater opportunities for women coaches and the addition of women assistants to the athletic trainer.

The greatest change, however, has been one of attitudinal growth, Dr. Gazette said.

She said Dr. Jack Leighton, director of the departments of health, physical education, recreation and athletics (HPERA), and the coaches of men's teams consider the women's sports program an important part of the college sports program and an asset to Eastern Washington State College.

The women's sports program offers an opportunity to participate in six sports and Orchesis, a performing dance group. More than 100 women students are expected to compete in local and regional tournaments this year, Dr. Gazette said.

Eastern is a member of the Northwest College Women's Sports Association (NCWSA) which governs regional competition, and the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW), which governs national championships. Competition is held regularly on the regional level and, on occasion, the national level.

This year's women's sports activities began prior to the first day of school with a three-day pre-season volleyball camp. Volleyball Coach Beth Parsons said the first of what will become an annual volleyball clinic offered sessions in conditioning, beginning and advanced volleyball techniques, officiating, nutrition and rules.

She said she hopes next year's pre-season camp will attract "big name coaches and be held on a bigger scale" than the first clinic.

Eastern's varsity volleyball team, selected early this month includes three returning players—setter Barb Wilkerson and "two outstanding hitters," Dotty Lidell and Paula Strouf. Debbie Williams, Jo Graham, Lorinda Girault and Nancy Stevenson, members of last year's junior varsity team, and a few transfer students should give the team some maturity, said Coach Parsons.

Since many of the team members are young, Coach Parsons said it will be difficult to predict how the team will do in competition until after the first game, scheduled for Oct. 4 at the University of Idaho.

Home games, all of which will be held in Phase II of the HPERA complex, will be Nov. 8 at 10 a.m., the day of Eastern's invitational meet; Nov. 18 at 5 p.m. with U of I, and Nov. 21 with Lewis-Clark State College at 1 p.m.

The Northwest regionals are scheduled to be held at Central Washington State College during Thanksgiving vacation.

Coach Parsons and her new assistant coach, Pamela McGarry, are making preparations for the Class A-B state high school volleyball tournament to be held at Eastern Nov. 14 and 15.

The women's swimming team, under the direction of Coach Richard Hagelin, has begun its season workouts and although track and field, tennis and basketball women players won't start practice for several weeks, women team members are staying in shape by taking women's conditioning classes, Dr. Gazette said.

The basketball team has gained a new assistant coach, Vickie Randall, said women's basketball coach Virginia Asan. Nancy Hobbs will serve as the assistant coach to Beth Parsons for the track and field program.

The tennis team will again be coached by Kay McCulloch.

Women's gymnastics coach, Maxine Davis, said Eastern's team will have six of last year's gymnasts returning to the team this year. An 11-meet schedule will give the gymnasts the opportunity to compete with 23 different schools during the season, she said.

Regional championships are scheduled for the second weekend of March at Pacific University, Forest Grove, Ore., and the national tournament will be hosted by Appalachian State College, Boone, N.C.

Coach Davis said the competition this year "should prove to be a real challenge since new rule changes have made it much more difficult to score and because qualifying scores for the nationals have been increased considerably."

Several new freshmen who are expected to add depth and strength to the team this year are Lynda Carlson, Richland; Sally Quinley, Bellingham; Lisa Updegrace, Moses Lake; Vickie Jefferies, Wenatchee; Paige Agocs, Bozeman, Mont., and Linda Burge, Kent.

The first home meet is scheduled for Jan. 10 at 1 p.m. in the gymnastics room of Phase II against Seattle Pacific College and Oregon State University.

EWSC Special Events Pavilion

Workmen are shown cleaning up one of two entrances to the new EWSC Special Events Pavilion, and inside is shown set up for the summer commencement.

The new $4.5 million structure, which will seat 4,800 for basketball and up to 7,000 for concerts, will be the scene of this season's EWSC home basketball games.

First concert planned for the new building will be the Homecoming program featuring Jim Stafford on Friday evening, Oct. 10, the day before the annual Homecoming football game with Oregon Institute of Technology.

The building is air conditioned, contains a large, complete trainers' room, lockers for nine teams and will be the scene of the first annual EWSC Christmas Classic Basketball Tournament Dec. 29-30.

College teams in the tourney will be EWSC, Seattle Pacific, Central Washington and Whitworth. High school teams will be Cheney, Medical Lake, Deer Park and Brewster.

If you haven't seen the new Pavilion, particularly the inside, its director, Walt Zabel, will have the building open after today's game to you may tour the facility.

Well known sports figure.

Actually to most people, we're a not-so-well-known sports figure. But we do figure in. And not just as spectators on the sidelines. We're behind the scenes supporting sports where and when we can.

Because to us, it's an investment. An investment in you and sports throughout the state. Because we think sports is one of the nice things about living here. And as the state's leading bank, we believe that what's good for you is good for us. And that figures.
